

The convenient fountain

Blue wading pool, blue inflatable chair, water, yellow pigment, water pump, a bulb light, ventilator and time relay.

Photo-documentation, color, variable sizes

Meeting a first world country for the first time, it became a ride in a rollercoaster to the tranquility and commodity, where anything can be reach seated in the coach and be protected about everything even went you cross the street, but this has take it away, a lot other human values, like the ability to interact with each other, the intuition it has been almost eradicated, the knowledge to survive it not longer in our nature. With the intention to waking up and react against this new emotional and physical state the fountain became a reaction against all that as a internal defensive manifestation.